Remembered Voices Announces Launch Date of February 21, 2010

NH tech startup pioneers voice archives with 24/7 access

KENSINGTON NH, Feb. 15/da Vinci Group Inc. - Remembered Voices announces their Sunday, February 21 launch of a unified phone and web service providing 24/7 availability for creation and playback of voice recordings.

The service provides long-term storage of audio recordings created by phone, through the company's online system, or by MP3 upload. Account holders create recordings and provide their friends and family with password protected access, allowing multiple playbacks over a 5 year period. Additional storage time, recording time, and listening time can be added by account holders and their listening audience.

Remembered Voices was conceived by Kensington NH residents Margo and Al Brandano. During a conversation about her late mother, Margo lamented the fact that she would never hear her mother's voice again. What if, she thought, you could create a recording for posterity with your cell phone?

The Brandanos organized an advisory board of diverse C-level executives from AIG, EMC, and other multi-national corporations to explore the possibility of a phone based archive that allowed access over an extended period of time. Within a year, Margo, Al, and their friend Eric Peterson, an experienced technology professional, opened a small office in downtown Exeter, NH. Working hard with a multi-faceted team of programmers, they developed a telephone and web system that will ensure the security and features necessary to make Remembered Voices a reality.

The resulting software can be used to create recordings via a standardized telephone interactive voice response system and through a proprietary custom web application. Content created by phone can be accessed online, and vice versa, at the convenience of the account owner and their listeners. Recordings can be played back repeatedly without loss of sound quality; multiple listeners can access the account or the recording concurrently.
